Company Overviews

Rocky Mountain Biologicals

Rocky Mountain Biologicals is a life science and bioprocessing company specializing in the development and production of high performance sera, protein fractions, high purity water, buffers, and process liquids. We are a raw material manufacturer. One of the main products we are focusing on expanding is Fetalgro. Fetalgro is our Fetal Bovine Serum (FBS) replacement product, a proprietary blend of serum supplemented with additives that is proven to match and in many cases outperform FBS in numerous cell lines at a fraction of the cost. www.rmbio.com

LCW Supercritical Technologies Corporation

LCW Supercritical Technologies Corporation is a chemical research firm with core technologies in the areas of uranium and rare earth mining and reclamation and heavy metal cleanup in contaminated ground water. Product filter has capability of filtering heavy metals from drinking water as well as uranium from sea water. The filtration system is an improvement on existing process developed in Japan and is less expensive and more efficient.

MSE Consulting

MSE Consulting provides engineering and systems integration for wastewater treatment via a novel form of electrodialysis. Wastewater treatment platforms that clean influent streams while converting salts into valuable co-products. Modular units may be assembled as skid mounted or containerized turnkey systems for mobility and expedited installation. Typical applications include cooling tower retention ponds at coal fired energy plants and produced water from hydraulic fracturing. Instead of concentrating salts for disposal, their technology isolates certain ions for reformation as caustic and hydrochloric acid.

Poteet Construction

Poteet Construction provides traffic control service including rentals, message boards, permanent signing, pilot cars, concrete, road and highway barriers and guard rail installation. Poteet Construction is also a service provider and representative for steel perimeter security fencing. BarrierGuard 800 is a light weight, rapidly deployable perimeter barrier that can be used in a permanent or a temporary installation capacity. It is highly price competitive compared to concrete barrier deployment systems.

DermaXon

DermaXon works to slow the underlying biological mechanisms of aging and delay or prevent the onset of age-related and skin diseases. This includes investigating the biology of skin, and the neurodegenerative diseases associated with the aging brain and pain. DermaXon is principally interested in meeting with firms engaged in treatment for neurodegenerative diseases and skin conditions (ichthyosis, acne, photoaging). Cannabinoid research is also an area of interest since DermaXon has cannabinoid-based analgesic compounds in their pipeline. In April 2017, DermaXon won the Shark Tank competition at the Society for Investigative Dermatology meeting, beating out competitors from Johns Hopkins, Harvard Medical School, Northwestern and elsewhere. DermaXon has received several grants from the NIH or the Michael J Fox foundation for Parkinson Research.
